

PRESS RELEASE

Intelligent Sensor Networks Conference, November 08, 2017

High Tech Campus Eindhoven, The Netherlands

We already live in the Matrix – Artificial Intelligence for Smart Industry and Innovative Design for Smart Cities

Eindhoven – The 9th edition of the Intelligent Sensor Networks Conference will take place on November 8, 2017, at High Tech Campus Eindhoven, The Netherlands.

This edition will focus on sensor networks for smart industry and smart maintenance.

The complete program features 13 speakers in total and will be opened by Mary-Ann Schreurs, Vice-Mayor, City of Eindhoven, with a speech on the acceleration of digital innovation.

Other speakers from Yokogawa, Brainport Development, World Class Maintenance, Nozomi Networks, InPhoTech, Zensor, Thales and more will cover extensively the topics of interest.

The conference also includes a session on Big Data and Smart Industry, powered by Fieldlab High Tech Software Cluster. The discussions during the session will tackle Process Mining and Data Engineering for Smart Industry.

Furthermore, the growing importance of photonics in smart maintenance will also be approached during presentations on Fibre Optic Sensing as a base of Asset Management and Preserving critical infrastructures using optical fiber.
